

View of Republic of Uzbekistan on the term and mandate of the Consultative Group of Experts and the need for continuation of the group

Republic of Uzbekistan acknowledges the importance of activities of CGE on the national communications of Non-Annex I Parties.

CGE made significant contribution to the improvement of the process of preparation of national communications of Non-Annex I Parties.

According to its terms and mandates CGE provides for the technical consulting support and assistance in preparation of national communications including also the regular compilation of national cadastres of green-house gases, assessment of prevention of climate change, vulnerability and adaptation, conduction of studies and systematic observations, education, training of personnel and public awareness, technology transfer and strengthening of capacity for the increase of accuracy, compatibility and transparency of information presented in their national communications; works over the improvement of "Guiding principles for preparation of national communications of Non-Annex I Parties" elaborating the recommendations with regards of difficulties the Parties are encountered during preparation of their national communications; facilitates exchange of experience and capacity building in the context of preparation of national communications via organization and conduction of training activities, practical workshops, publication of tutorial materials on the subjects of cadastres of green-house gases, prevention of climate change, assessment of vulnerability and adaptation, studies systematic observations, education, training of personnel and public awareness, technology transfer and strengthening of capacity, financial and technical support. From all this it follows that continuation of CGE activities is required for Non-Annex I Parties which need the technical consulting and support, capacity building, exchange of experience in preparation of their national communications.

According to the above mentioned, Uzbekistan considers that continuation of CGE activities is required due to its current terms and CGE mandate.