

Promoting a Just Transition Experiences from the United States

Julia Meisel
U.S. Department of State

Promoting a Just Transition

Experiences from the United States

- Domestic Approach
- Examples

What are we aiming for?

- Promoting workers sharing in the transition to a greener economy
- Equipping workers with skills for a transition
- Policies and investments that respect the fundamental rights of workers
- Protecting workers' health and safety
- Measures to help those impacted by the transition, including vulnerable populations

Partnerships for Opportunity and Workforce and Economic Revitalization (POWER)

- Workforce and economic revitalization resources for communities negatively impacted by changes in the coal economy
- Economic and workforce development outcomes promoting regional economic growth and diversification, new job creation, and re-employment opportunities
- Local economic development plans collaboratively produced by stakeholders

POWER Federal Partners

POWER Implementation Grants

Helping coal-impacted communities to:

1. Diversify their economies
2. Create jobs in new or existing industries
3. Attract new sources of job-creating investment
4. Provide a range of workforce services and skills training, including work-based learning opportunities, resulting in industry-recognized credentials for high-quality, in-demand jobs

YouthBuild

- Provide disadvantaged and low-income youth the opportunity to obtain education and employment skills in local in-demand jobs to achieve economic self-sufficiency
- Improve the quality and energy efficiency of community and other nonprofit and public facilities, including those that are used to serve homeless and low-income families.
- Education services, occupational skills training to create a skilled workforce in the construction industry, other in-demand jobs

YouthBuild: Green Building

Solar Installation

Job Corps

- Career technical training and education program for students ages 16-24
- Training with a Green Focus
  - Advanced Manufacturing
  - Automotive and Machine Repair
  - Construction
  - Health Care
  - Renewable Resources
- Transitional support services, job-search assistance

Thank You

Julia Meisel

Office of Global Change

U.S. Department of State

MeiselJS@state.gov